To whom it may concern,

I am writing to inform you of Better Options, our free 1 day online event for students with disabilities and specific learning difficulties exploring post-secondary school options in education which will be held on Saturday November 27th from 10.30-4pm.

We have sent you a poster and would appreciate if this could be made available in a suitable location within your school to ensure that students with disabilities or specific learning difficulties know about the event. We would also appreciate any further help with dissemination such as letting guidance counsellors know and students and parents directly. If you need anything please contact events@ahead.ie.

Available to: Students with disabilities considering their post leaving cert educational options, Adults returning to education, or parents and guidance counsellors in the Republic of Ireland.

When: Better Options 2021 will take place online via Zoom from 10.30-4pm on Saturday, November 27th with breaks throughout the day. Registration for Better Options.

More information: Attendees will learn about college support services, making the most of your time in college and access routes open to those with disabilities and specific learning difficulties, including how to make an application to DARE- Disability Access Route to Education. There will be information on Further Education and Training, as well as Higher Education and Apprenticeships. Attendees will be able to ask questions.

There will also be a free one to one Information Service for registrants on the day to be able to ask questions about their specific circumstances.

If you have any questions about Better Options or need any further assistance from us, please contact events@ahead.ie.

Many thanks, AHEAD Better Options Team
